JOHN H. OBERLY & CO

THE ACCOMMODATING DAILEY & CO.

The following letter was addressed to one of the most pious and circumspect gentlemen of our city, who from youth up, has been known in this region, and known only to be respected:

Dear Sir: Having learned from our local "listener" that you are "good on the shore," and don't care to "take the chances," and seeing your name on the Pennsylvania prison list, we address you with confidence as the man we want to help us.

We have on hand about $250,000 in the best fifty cent stamps ever put in the market. They cannot possibly be detected by the best experts. We would like a personal interview, if you can come on; then we can explain the matter to better advantage. Twenty dollars per $100, $200 per $1,000, is the price, and if you desire to see a sample we will send it for 25c. You can make a good thing by the operation, as they will go at par, and detection is out of the question, if you know how to keep your mouth shut. Be careful not to lose this or show it to any one, as you cannot keep the matter too secret. You can easily get rid of $100 a day.

Direct plainly to Dailey & Co., 148 Fulton street, New York.

The gentleman to whom this letter (lithographed) was addressed, desiring to see one of the fifty cent stamps that the best experts could not detect, sent forward the 25 cents. His object was to familiarize himself with the counterfeit that he might protect himself and possibly his neighbors from imposition and loss. As weeks have passed and no reply has been returned the conclusion is irresistible that the whole thing is simply one of the mythical Dailey & Co.'s dodges to gather in genuine quarters on a promise that he will return a bogus half for it. As thousands of honest men have no doubt been actuated by the motives that governed the gentlemen in question, it is easy enough to see how Dailey & Co. make it pay. The scoundrels!

WHAT IS LUXURY?

We have all been behind the age to suppose that the delectable wine known as Veuve Cliquot Champagne is a luxury. We are ready to prove that in the United States a pair of 8-lb. blankets are estimated 80 per cent more of a luxury than the celebrated champagne. A dozen quart bottles of Veuve Cliquot Champagne cost 54 francs, or, in our money, $10, 04, gold. The duty thereon is $6, gold, a dozen, or 60 per cent.

A pair of 8-lb. common gray blankets costs, in England, 18 cents a lb., gold, or $1.44. The duty thereon is, 8 lbs. at 20 cent.....$1.60, gold, and 35 per cent ad valorem.....40, " on $1.44.....20, " $2.00, "

Hence we see that the duty is 140 per cent. on blankets, and therefore 80 per cent more than on champagne.

Our tariff-makers have further come to the conclusion that a common woollen undershirt, worn by the working classes, is 37 per cent more of a luxury than the delicious grape juice known as champagne. Here are the facts: A dozen woollen undershirts, weighing 6 lbs., cost, in England, $1.50, gold. Duty thereon, 6 lbs., at 50 cents per lb.....$3.00, gold 35 per cent ad valorem on $4.50, 1.68, " $4.68, " or just about 97 per cent.

We need hardly state that blankets are not imported now; and while Government does not get a cent of duty on them the working man has to pay $3.75 to $4, currency, for a pair of common blankets, which cost, in England, $1.44, gold, or at 40 per cent premium, $2.01, currency.

WELL MATCHED.

New York is noted for the shrewdness of its police and accountants. The following is a sample brick of their "dodges." Several days ago some suspicious character addressed a confidential vote to a Wall street operator intimating a willingness to part with $125,000 bonds he had stolen from Mr. Bennehoff, of Pittsburgh, Pa., for $100,000 in greenbacks. He expressed a willingness to sacrifice $25,000 to put his means in a more negotiable shape. The Wall street operator thus addressed, happened to be the only one in the city that would not bite at such tempting baits. To the surprise of his neighbors he informed the police of the offer he had received, and, in order to capture the bond thief, suggested that negotiations be closed. Accordingly detectives were sent to Hudson City, and were not long in finding the individual from whom they were to make the purchase. He passed over the package containing the $125,000 in bonds, and received in return a package containing $100,000 in counterfeit greenbacks. The sale concluded, the police arrested the bond thief; they had the evidence in their hands—the $125,000 in bonds. They returned to New York, opened their package and found it contained a counterfeit $1,000 bond and about three pounds of blank paper! Hence, as the transaction amounted to nothing more than an exchange of two worthless packages, the prisoner was released with an admonition from the police, that he "had better quit his d—d foolishness before he get himself into trouble!" The sharper retorted that he "wasn't afraid because he'd been there," and in this manner the very unsatisfactory transaction was terminated.

A JUMPING MATCH.

At Odin, on Sunday last, Samuel Harris and William Payton jumped one single jump, six trials, for $75 a side. James Hutchinson was chosen referee. Payton toed the mark and covered 11 feet 2 inches. Harris then toed the mark and covered 11 feet 3 1/2 inches. On the second trial Payton's friends offered to bet a little on their protégé. Payton cleared 11 feet 4 1/2 inches to Harris's 11 feet 4 inches. On the third trial Payton covered 11 feet 5 inches to Harris's 11 feet 6 inches. Betting was now 2 to 1 on Payton. On the fourth trial both seemed slightly fatigued. Payton covered 12 feet 1 inch, and Harris covered 12 feet. On the fifth trial Payton covered 12 feet 2 inches to 12 feet 2 1/2 inches by Harris. On the sixth trial Payton covered 12 feet 4 inches. Harris won the match by covering 12 feet 4 1/2 inches. Considerable money changed hands.

THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.

The exhibit of the Central Pacific road for the month of July is very encouraging. The total earnings are given at $579,000—an increase of $21,000 over earnings for June. It must be remembered in this connection that during the month the charges on freight and passenger travel have been materially reduced. On account of these gratifying results the company does not feel called upon to issue the full amount of its first mortgage bonds. The rate of income will at the end of a year leave a handsome net profit, even after the contingency of interest on bonds is met. This settles the question of all securities connected with the road. Their stability is doubly insured, and the responsibility assumed by the government is made a succinct and profitable investment.

Every day increases the probability of the overthrow of that ultra radical faction which for so many years dominated over the country so tyrannically. The State elections alone indicate it almost invariably. The immense gains in Connecticut in April over November; the utter route of the destructionists in Virginia, followed by a still more signal victory in Tennessee; the increased Democratic strength even in the legislature of Kentucky, the troubles and dissensions of the republicans in Maine and Massachusetts, and in other States, and the division of the carpetbaggers in Mississippi, are ominous of the coming future. By universal consent, Grant's administration has been voted to be a stupendous failure. It came into power on a wave of popularity only to go out on a still severer one, which will submerge it. The impression is general that the party in power has become exceedingly corrupt. Developments are constantly being made to that end. There is a strong and restless desire for a change. The friends of the administration are not united, but, on the contrary, are greatly divided, and are playing at cross purposes. These are all signs of a party which is in rapid decadence, and which is about to suffer a tremendous popular rebuke.

Oil furniture that has been scratched or marred may be restored to its original beauty simply by rubbing boiled linseed oil, used by painters, on the surface, with a wad of woolen rag. Varished furniture, dulled, may be similarly restored by the use of varnish composed of shellac dissolved in alcohol, applied in a similar manner. Common beeswax rubbed over furniture and heated by the friction of a woolen wad briskly used, is also an excellent furniture polish.

It is stated as one of the effects of the construction of the Suez Canal that in the adjacent deserts, where a drop of rain was never known to fall, showers are now not infrequent, and heavy fogs prevail. These climatic changes are attributed to the number of trees planted along the canal, and the shrubbery in the villages which have sprung up at every station along the great water course. The lesson is not without its value to us. If our people desire to avoid droughts or excessive floods, and preserve a moist and equal climate, they must not strip the country of its foliage. It is the interest of farmers to plant trees. They beautify the landscape, offer grateful shade, and preserve the moisture of the atmosphere.

A correspondent states for some seven years his chickens have been kept free from lice by strewing small branches or sprigs of cedar about the henry. Previous to the use of this simple remedy, they were badly infested. No whitewashing or other means have been used to expel vermin.

To remove old, hardened putty, dip a small brush in nitric or muriatic acid, and with it annoint or paint over the dry putty adhering to broken glass or frames of windows. After an hour's interval the putty will become quite soft and easily removable.

MODERN READERS.

The Detroit 'Free Press' wants modern improvements worked into school reading-books, and offers the following as a sample of the sort that would be up to the spirit of the age:

"The horse is on his nest. He is a fine horse. Can he make his mile in two minutes? Some horses have the scratches. So do some boys.

"The goose is on her roost, she is a fine quadruped, and has a tender tenor voice. Can the goose fly far? No; neither the goose nor the rhinoceros can fly far.

"Here is a man. He is a fireman. He belongs to No. 10. If you are a good boy, you will be some day an angel like that fireman. It is a dangerous thing to be a fireman. They sometimes get their heads broken.

"Here is the gas works. It is a high building. All our congressmen are borge here. Do congressmen ever steal? You may be sure that they do.

"Do you see that small boy? He is a good boy, and supports his mother by selling newspapers. His father don't have to work any more now.

"Here is the picture of a young widow. See how sad she looks. Her husband could not pay her dry goods bill. And so he died. Do you think she will get another man? She will try hard.

"Here is the seaside. You see that swell there drinking spring-water? What is he here for? For his health. Will he get it? Yes; if his father's money holds out and she don't get engaged first to that fellow with the paste diamond.

"Do you see this colored man? See how fast he runs! He is 'running' for an office. He was a poor man once, and worked for his clothes and victuals. Now he don't.

"This is a picture of Horace Greeley. What is he doing? He is mailing strawberry plants to his subscribers."

HUMOROUS PARAGRAPHS.

During a discussion lately between a prohibitionist and a license man, the former took the ground that there was nowhere in the moral law anything to be found that favored drinking. "O, yes there is," said the license man; "for we read of the miracle at Cana, where the Master turned water into wine. Isn't that so?" "Well, yes," said the other, reluctantly; "I guess you are right; and, by the way, that is the only thing I've got agin him."

At Richmond, on an eve of Spring, it was the first I met her. Ah! She was the nicest thing that ever stepped—et cetera! How sweet her fairy hand to hold! To delicately fetter a fair finger with a ring of gold, which you know what—et cetera! It's deuced hot to fall in love—and perhaps I'd better let her alone; for a wife, you know, by Jove! is—gad, you know, et cetera.

A Dutchman once met an Irishman on a lonely highway. As they met, each one smiled, thinking he knew the other. Pat, on seeing his mistake, remarked, with a look of disappointment: "Faith, an' I thought it was you, and you thought it was me, an' it's naythor of us." The Dutchman replied: "Yaw das is dhru; I am anuder man, and you is not yourself; we pepoth some other podies."

A celebrated quack-doctor in the city, who boasts that he attends the poor for nothing, but manages to remunerate himself by charging the more wealthy fifty dollars for a prescription, asked a woman who entered his office; "What are your circumstances, my good woman?" "Please, doctor," was the reply, "I'm a widow, and I haven't got any circumstances at all, I'm too poor."

A pious old gentleman congratulated an acquaintance upon recovery from recent sickness, and inquired who his physician was. "Well," replied the convalescent, "Dr. Jones brought me through." "No, no," said his friend, "God brought you out of illness, not the doctor." "Well, may be he did, but I am certain the doctor will charge for it."

At Lynn, Mass., a school teacher asked a little girl who was the first man. She answered that she did not know. The question was put to the next, an Irish child, who answered loudly, "Adam, sir," with apparent satisfaction. "Law," said the first scholar, "you needn't feel so proud about it; he wasn't an Irishman."

The Maelstrom of our childhood's geographies is a myth. A late report on the Norwegian fisheries says that it "is so little thought of by the inhabitants that they pass and repass it in their sail vessels at certain times in the winter season; and far from drawing in whales and other things that come within its range, it appears to be a favorite resort of the fish of the country, and the fishermen reap a rich piscatorial harvest from its bosom. The greatest rate of the tide in winter does not exceed six miles an hour."

To keep birds from the strawberries, raspberries, grapes, etc., keep one or two stuffed chicken hawks in the patch. They can be changed from place to place, and laid aside in winter. The suggestion is good.
